Safer clicks for adult gay media

A practical guide to privacy, consent and link judgment — without stigma or sensationalism.

Four checks before a click

Destination

Read the real domain. Prefer HTTPS. Avoid look-alike or unexplained shortened links.

Permissions

Viewing should not need contacts, remote access, device admin or another account’s code.

Privacy

Separate public interests from work and family identities. Assume screenshots can persist.

Consent

Choose adult, consensual and lawfully shared material. Do not forward private content.

Pause → verify → decide

01 · PAUSE

Reduce pressure

Do not let urgency, shame or curiosity make the decision. Close pop-ups and return through a known route.

02 · VERIFY

Check context

Confirm the domain, account history, source and intended audience. A polished page is not proof of trust.

03 · DECIDE

Choose deliberately

Continue only if the destination, permissions and privacy trade-off are acceptable to you.

What technology cannot prove for you

Age

A label, username or profile claim cannot establish that every participant is an adult.

Consent

A visible upload cannot prove agreement to recording, publication or onward sharing.

Rights

A working link does not establish copyright, licensing or permission to redistribute.

Future privacy

Deletion cannot guarantee that screenshots, caches or re-uploads disappear everywhere.

ONE SIMPLE RULE

Context before clicks

Keep identities separate.
Verify before sharing.
Choose adult, consensual sources.
